

UNIVERSITY OF MANITOBA MODERN

May 6th - June 30th, 2014
Main Floor, Millenium Library, 251 Donald Street

During the post-war years, architects, many of whom were graduates from the U of M, used campus projects to experiment with new technologies and materials for constructing modern buildings. Explore archival photographs, drawings and construction materials. Learn just what makes the University of Manitoba campus modern and why modern architecture matters.

*Curated by Abigail Auld and Monica Hutton
Supported financially by the Faculty of Architecture Endowment
Fund, University of Manitoba*

*Photo: Fort Garry campus, facing west from the Administration Building, winter 1975.
University Centre at right, and University Centre Plaza at centre. Image courtesy of University of Manitoba Archives & Special Collections.*

www.winnipegarchitecture.ca

UNIVERSITY OF MANITOBA MODERN

May 6th - June 30th, 2014
Main Floor, Millenium Library, 251 Donald Street

During the post-war years, architects, many of whom were graduates from the U of M, used campus projects to experiment with new technologies and materials for constructing modern buildings. Explore archival photographs, drawings and construction materials. Learn just what makes the University of Manitoba campus modern and why modern architecture matters.

*Curated by Abigail Auld and Monica Hutton
Supported financially by the Faculty of Architecture Endowment
Fund, University of Manitoba*

*Photo: Fort Garry campus, facing west from the Administration Building, winter 1975.
University Centre at right, and University Centre Plaza at centre. Image courtesy of University of Manitoba Archives & Special Collections.*

www.winnipegarchitecture.ca

